Fiona has been a professional actor for over 28 years and, as well as working in theatre and television, has done a wide-range of voice-over work and corporate training as an actor, writer and facilitator. She also writes, directs and performs with Mad Dogs Theatre Company which she co-founded. Fiona is fluent in French and Spanish and has used both languages in scripted role-play scenarios, improvisation and as a facilitator (eg when delivering Equality/Diversity training for the FCO in Madrid) Techniques used in corporate training include:
performing scripted scenes, 'hot-seating' (talking/interviewing in character with the trainees), forum theatre, facilitator-led discussion and improvisation.
